Barrett- jackson 2020 schedule palm beach

Get This Access Barrett-Jackson has changed plans for the remainder of 2020 due to a pandemic of restrictions, adding a new auction of live collector's cars in October, cancelling two live auctions previously scheduled. The new autumn auction was announced Thursday by Barrett-Jackson, scheduled for October 22-24 at its home ground, WestWorld in Scottsdale, Arizona, at the same location where its flagship January auction takes place. The auction company also announced the cancellation of its annual auction in Las Vegas in September and its already rescheduled Palm Beach, Florida, auction, which was rescheduled for Oct. The 5th annual Northeast auction was scratched earlier this year. The 1970 Plymouth Hemi Cuda coupe is the reigning winner of the show While we look forward to our traditional auctions in Las Vegas and Palm Beach this year, after careful consideration we have determined that a live auction at WestWorld was an exciting and more feasible alternative, said Craig Jackson, chairman and chief executive of Barrett-Jackson, in the announcement. At this time, it allows us to better protect the health of our guests and team members and gives us the opportunity to provide the quality experience for which Barrett-Jackson is known. A lot of thought has gone into the new procedures needed to make this happen, which we will be communicating about over the coming weeks. The Covid-19 pandemic has disrupted live auctioneers around the world, with most major companies auctioning collectible cars, including Barrett-Jackson, replacing online sales instead of on-site events. Barrett-Jackson's latest graph change shows how auction companies have had to adapt to the developing pandemic. The 1968 Pontiac Firebird custom resto-mod is the chief torque Of Barrett-Jackson news release saying the Autumn Auction will restore the company's high-energy sales style, which has earned it hundreds of thousands of thirsty fans. While it's been a tough year for everyone, it hasn't dampened our passion for this incredible hobby, said Steve Davis, president of Barrett-Jackson. Our collectible car family encouraged us to hold this autumn auction in their own backyard at a reliable WestWorld location, providing a great level of confidence. SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. --(BUSINESS WIRE)--Mar 12, 2020- Following a recommendation from county and state officials in Florida, executives from Barrett-Jackson today announced that the company will postpone its 18th annual Palm Beach auction, scheduled for April 16-18, 2020, at a South Florida fairground. The decision was made due to the uncertainty of the ongoing public health crisis and the protection of customers, sponsors and guests of the auction from the potential spread of COVID-19. While each indication shows that our bidders, shippers and sponsors stood by our efforts to hold our auction, we decided to follow the Florida governor's advice and exercise great caution at this time, said Craig Jackson chairman and CEO of Barrett-Jackson. Our decision to postpone the auction was made to protect the safety and health of the population. Barrett-Jackson's No Reserve Palm Beach Auction is in its 18th year and hosts more than 60,000 guests annually. Last year, the company celebrated its largest 3-day Palm Beach auction with a record number of collector vehicles, nearly 1,500 bidders and total auctions exceeding $31.2 million. the auction was on track to continue the company's success in Florida.It is expected that the Barrett-Jackson Palm Beach auction will be rescheduled October 15-17, 2020. Current ticket holders can transfer their tickets to new event dates. Full refunds will also be available. Details for transfers and refunds will be reported directly to ticket holders. This is indeed an unprecedented challenge in the history of our country, and to one we are very seriously under investigation, said Steve Davis, president of Barrett-Jackson. That is why in the coming weeks we will continue to work closely with local governments and health officials as we plan future auctions. From June 24-27, Barrett-Jackson auctions remaining in 2020, including a northeast auction at Mohegan Sun in Connecticut and an auction in Las Vegas at the Mandalay Bay Casino and Resort from September 10 to 12, will be held as scheduled.
